

Electronic Press Kit September 2017

Berlin local, Alice Hills and her music have been shaped by Berlin's streets, squares and subway stations where she has been performing since the age of 17. The sometimes challenging but very rewarding environment has helped to perfect her unique singing style and performance that has become her unmistakable trademark.

One of Alice's biggest musical qualities is the dynamic use of her voice. She is able control the intensity, from soft to powerful, in the beat of a heart. The streets have influenced her songwriting which is themed mainly around difficult breakups and issues of society.

In 2016 Alice toured in Australia, where she will be returning to in January 2018, followed by the USA and Canada in Spring.

She has recently finished her third year in a row of an extended summer busking tour, playing at festivals including the Montreux Jazz Festival (Switzerland), the Avignon Theater Festival and the Edinburgh Fringe Festival. In October, Alice travels to Rome and Paris to busk on their lovely streets.

In November, production begins on Alice's new EP, which will be her third studio-produced work since publishing her Band EP 'Up' in February 2017 and her solo album 'Songs of Love and Despair' in May 2016. Her new EP is due to be released towards the end of 2017, with vinyl available on demand.
